Social Bio
Prof. Al Lily is described as sporty, cultured and well-rounded. He has travelled to 44 countries, including Tibet. He scuba dived to 30m to see the Underwater Museum and jumped from a cliff in Mexico. He mountain-biked in New Zealand and enjoyed a cycle safari in Kenya. He flew in a helicopter, a hot-air balloon and a seaplane in the Maldives. He cruised on the Britannia. He was rafting and wild swimming under Bali's largest waterfalls and in the caves of Mexico. He dined at Dark Restaurant in Cologne and attended both an indoor-pillow and open-air bean bag cinema event. He skied in Kazakhstan and blow karted in the Netherlands. He saw animals in the wild, including pandas in China, penguins in South Africa, kangaroos in Australia, kiwi birds in New Zealand and the Big Five of Africa. He explored the desert, Bali and Sri Lanka using in a four-wheel car, snorkelled in the Philippines to discover turtles and the Coral Garden, and floated in the Dead Sea in Jordan. He went on a submarine tour in the deep mysterious sea of Mauritius. He bought his favourite painting from Tanzania and once spent 45 days over a summer visiting a different city in Germany each day. He stayed at a floating jungle raft in Thailand and a tree house in France. He enjoyed hot springs in Iceland.
